

Help Save a Life

This is Anu Parashar, a loving mother of 4 beautiful children, a devoted wife, and hard working entrepreneur. From the picture it seems like she has it all and she does along with a life threatening liver problem which has pretty much given up on her. She requires a liver transplant as soon as possible, and so far hasn't found anyone who is a perfect match for her.

What she needs is:

- Someone over the age of 18 and under the age of 60
- Someone who has a O+ blood type
- Someone who does not have any health issue, such as being overweight, diabetes, etc.

Here are some facts:

- Only 65% of the donor's liver will be taken and their liver will grow back to normal size within 4 weeks
- You will undergo several tests to make sure you are a perfect candidate & match
- You will be required to stay at the hospital for a couple of days after surgery
- Most importantly you will save a life

Please help my family & I find someone willing to donate and generous enough to give my mami another chance at life. Doesn't she deserve to live to see her children graduate and get married. She has never drank alcohol, eaten meat or done anything else to cause problems to her liver.

So I am asking for your help to spread the word and find people who are willing to help & support this heartfelt cause.

If you are unsure about your blood type, please go to your family doctor to find out.

We hope your help will save her life and get her a donor as soon as possible.
